

INVESTIGATION HERE THOROUGH.

But State Inspectors Looked Only Into Local Conditions.

TAKE SAMPLES OF WATER

Connellsville Water Company Gets Report From Expert Who Finds No Typhoid Germs—Board of Health Looking For Its Report Soon.

The report of Sanitary Engineer R. E. Irwin of Harrisburg and Sanitary Inspector D. M. Irwin of Greensburg, both representatives of the State Health Department, is awaited with great interest by the members of the Connellsville Board of Health. Both men have completed their inspection and left yesterday after spending almost a week here.

Although the request of the Board of Health to have the city water supply analyzed was refused by the State Health Department, the representatives of Dr. Samuel G. Dixon were almost as prompt in arriving upon the scene as were the officials of the Connellsville Water Company after the report of the Board of Health was made public.

The investigation of the State representatives was purely local. The Board of Health requested that the rivers and streams above town be inspected but this was not done. The inspectors stated their orders limited them to a purely local examination.

The investigation conducted here was the most thorough that was ever made in the borough. Every house where a case of typhoid fever has been reported was inspected. The occupants were questioned regarding the precautions that had been taken and then an inspection was made of the surrounding neighborhood. The water of the wells in the neighborhood, if any existed, was taken as a sample and sent off for analysis.

The inspectors stated that the State does not usually analyze city water in any community, although it will always be glad to analyze samples of well water. Two samples of city water were taken, however.

Dr. L. P. McCormick of the Board of Health stated this morning that while there has been more typhoid here this year than usual, there was not proportionately more cases than have existed in other towns and cities. The number of new cases reported is rapidly decreasing, he said.

The Board of Health expects to hear the last of this week from the samples of city water which were sent for analysis. Ever since the matter was agitated the Connellsville Water Company has had its bacteriologist, J. C. Bunker, on the job here. Mr. Bunker has fitted up a small laboratory and is constantly making tests. He reports these favorable, there being no trace of colon bacillus. The water company this morning also received an analysis from Dr. Francis C. Phillips, chemist of the University of Pittsburgh. Dr. Phillips analyzed two samples which were collected by Mr. Bunker and Dr. R. S. McKee, President of the Board of Health. Both samples were taken October 18. The one at No. 113 North Eighth street, West Side, was found to contain 3 bacteria per cubic centimeter; the sample taken at Lake Erie railroad station contained 19. There was no colon bacillus, or typhoid germs, found in either sample, according to the report of Dr. Phillips. Dr. Phillips further stated that "the indications as to these waters was favorable."

It was stated today by a man in close touch with the situation that the local Board of Health may come in for severe censure from the State Health Department. "Conditions in some parts of town have been pretty bad," this man said. "There is no disputing the fact that among the negro and Italian settlements along North Eighth street, West Side, the situation is a constant menace to the health of that entire community. It is remarkable more cases were not reported."

As stated yesterday, the Board of Health has ordered lime and other disinfectants which will be used freely.

Defendant said today that a man told him to get the meat and sell it, and admitted he had taken a few drinks.

Tuberculosis Exhibit Opens at the Y.M.C.A.

The traveling tuberculosis exhibit of the State Health Department was opened yesterday afternoon and last evening in the Y. M. C. A. building. Charles N. Fry of Harrisburg, the traveling manager, Mr. Fry has been on the road 15 months with the exhibit during which time a distance of 12,000 miles has been covered.

The exhibit is decidedly interesting and not in the least gruesome, as some had imagined. Plans for cottages and open air sleeping apartments are shown; there is a big relief map of the State, sanatorium at Mont Alto, Franklin county, and any number of photographs, charts and maps.

Last evening Dr. John A. House, State Medical Examiner, delivered an interesting address on the subject of tuberculosis, which he declared was preventable. Dr. House insisted that tuberculosis is neither hereditary nor contagious, but it is an infectious disease. By observing the proper precautions, Dr. House declared that the disease can be avoided by those who otherwise might be easy victims. Dr. House then gave a few words of good advice.

Tonight the address will be made by Dr. T. B. Schmitt, in charge of the local dispensary, and Dr. G. W. Gallagher. The exhibit is here for a three days' stay, closing tomorrow evening. More than a hundred attended the address of Dr. House last evening.

With the success that has attended the experiments of Count Zeppelin in Germany has come greater interest along the same lines on the part of the English.

Stole Harness Then Cried Hard When Pinched

Special to The Courier.
UNIONTOWN, Oct. 26.—When Frank Gray, aged 22, a local colored man, was arrested on an information charging larceny he cried like a baby. James Nyeum of Morgantown street, is the prosecutor. It is alleged that while a little boy, which Nyeum's boy drives, was eating, Gray took advantage of it by stealing the harness from its back.

Nyeum valued the harness at $15 but the defendant is claimed to have sold it to a junk dealer for $1.50.

This is the third time Gray had been arrested for the same offense. He professed his innocence, and his arrest was too much for his nerves. After he dried his tears he was escorted to the jail to await a hearing. On the former arrests he was given jail sentences.

BLANCHARD IS KILLED.

PARIS, Oct. 26.—(Special.)—In attempting to alight at Issy after a flight to Bourges, Aviator Blanchard was killed today when his aeroplane fell 150 feet.

RECEIVING BIDS FOR APPLE STREET PAVING

Borough Engineer J. B. Hogg is receiving bids for the paving of Apple street from Pittsburg street to Mountain alley but stated that he could not tell whether these bids would be opened at tomorrow night's session of Council. There seems to be some hitch over the matter of advertising. Sidewalks are being laid in the Davidson and Newmyer addition and within a few weeks there will be a continuous walk on Davidson avenue from Race to Chestnut streets. Sycamore, Chestnut and other streets in that section are having sidewalks laid.

Suit Case Lost, Another Found; Police Puzzle

The mystery of a missing suit case and one that was found occupied the attention of Chief of Police George Hetzel this morning. At 9 o'clock a stranger reported at City Hall and asked the police to help him find his suit case. He had put it in the baggage room at the Baltimore and Ohio depot and went up to the division offices on business. When he returned the suit case was gone.

Shortly afterwards Engineer Pringle, who runs a dinky at Davidson street, reported finding a new suit case which had been ripped open. Chief Hetzel went out and investigated. The suit case had contained some small green oranges, a pipe and other articles. Only the oranges and the pipe remained, besides some papers that were scattered about. The only paper that might lead to an identification of the owner was a note for $500 made at Point Marion by E. L. Owen to J. K. Conn. Chief Hetzel took the note and other articles.

It developed that the suit case lost at the Baltimore and Ohio railroad was taken to P. Bufano's bank by mistake. He was later recovered by its owner, Chief Hetzel will endeavor to locate the owner of the damaged suit case found at Davidson.

SEVENTH VETERANS ELECT OFFICERS.

Williamsport, Pa., Chosen as Place of the Next Meeting.

THE CAMPFIRE LAST EVENING

In Carnegie Library Hall Was Largely Attended and Immensely Enjoyed by the Veterans and Their Friends. The Program Rendered.

At 8:30 o'clock this morning the annual business meeting of the Seventh Pennsylvania Volunteer Cavalry was held at the Carnegie Free Library with Col. J. L. Barnhart, the president in the chair. The meeting opened with prayer offered by Lieutenant Col. Greeno, after which Miss Clara Drollinger of Pittsburg played and whistled "Tramp, Tramp, the Boys are Marching" and "Marching Through Georgia." The regular routine business was then taken up. The principal business was the election of officers for the ensuing year, which resulted as follows: President, Captain Percy White, Williamsport; First Vice President, G. D. Rowe, Williamsport; Second Vice President, Commander J. C. Sarabander, Williamsport; Fourth Vice President, Commander Samuel Johnson, Williamsport; Secretary and Treasurer, F. R. Hutchison of Pittsburg; Assistant Secretary, S. G. Barnes, Springdale, Pa.; Mr. Barnes is editor of the Springdale Journal.

The following committees were appointed by President Barnhart: Auditing, Jasper Sherman, Captain W. H. Collins and Samuel Johnson; Committee on Resolutions, Captain M. H. Linton, Thomas McGovern and Clark Collins.

The various reports of the year were read by the Secretary and Treasurer, F. R. Hutchison. The financial report showed at the beginning of the year there was a balance in the treasury of $5.65; $56 was turned in for dues and other sources making a total of $61.65.

Williamsport was chosen as the place for holding the convention next year. Williamsport was favored by the veterans. A motion was made and seconded that Miss Clara Drollinger of Pittsburg be adopted as a daughter of the regiment. The motion was unanimously carried. Miss Drollinger is a daughter of the late Adolph Drollinger who was instantly killed at the plant of the Pittsburg Steel & Wire Company in Pittsburg four years ago. Mr. Drollinger was a Civil War veteran. Mr. Drollinger always attends the reunion and her sobbing is looked forward to with eager delight by the veterans. She is a member of the Pittsburg Mozart Club and of the Christ Episcopal Church choir, Pittsburg.

At the conclusion of the business meeting the soldiers and their friends headed by the Uniontown Martial Band boarded a West Penn street car for Fairview farm where a basket picnic is being held. The address of welcome was delivered by Dr. G. W. Gallagher and the response by Attorney F. R. Jones of Uniontown. Miss Marie Bonford will give a reading and the Martial Band will furnish plenty of music. Today promises to be the most enjoyable one of the reunion. Col. Greeno stated last evening that only once was the reunion as delightful as the present one and that was seven years ago when the Cavalry was organized in Connellsville.

Among the veterans who arrived yesterday were Thomas McGovern of Carroll, Pa.; John Keenan of Mooreport, Pa.; and S. G. Barnes of Springdale, Pa.

Scores of veterans of the Civil War wended their way last evening to the Carnegie Free Library to attend the annual campfire of the Seventh Pennsylvania Volunteer Cavalry. The old (Continued on Fifth Page.)

Somerset Man Fractures Vertebrae Bone Hurling a Big Ten Pin Ball.

Special to The Courier.
SOMERSET, Pa., Oct. 26.—Charles F. Baker, manager of the Casino bowling alleys here, sustained a fracture of the spinous process, a section of bone projecting from the spinal vertebrae, while bowling on Monday evening. Mr. Baker swung a temple ball, weighing about 20 pounds, down the alley, and by a peculiar twist of the neck fractured the small bone. He felt pain at the time but supposed that he had merely strained a ligament. Upon consulting a physician the nature of his injury was made apparent.

Had Mr. Baker been a little more violent in his delivery of the ball there is little doubt that he would have broken his neck, and as it is he sustained very painful injuries.

Express Matter Tied Up by Big Jersey Strike

United Press Telegram.
JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 26.—After a day and night of disorder marked by the arrest of strikers and their sympathizers and the cutting of harness and overturning of loaded wagons the United States Express Company this morning requested Governor Fort at Trenton to call out the militia.

The company has been unable to move its wagons and asserts that the police of Jersey City and Hoboken are not giving adequate protection to the non-striking drivers and helpers.

The men striking are wagon helpers who demand an increase of $5 a month in pay. The company imported New York strikebreakers, but they were unable to move any express.

They were attacked with clubs and stones and even firearms. The regular drivers are insisting that they are not on a strike but they refuse to take on their wagons without experienced helpers. As a result clerks have been pressed into service as drivers.

Services Held Over Two Small Victims of Train

Special to The Courier.
UNIONTOWN, Oct. 26.—Services over the remains of little Paul and Herbert Mahoney, killed by a Baltimore & Ohio train at Pechin last Sunday night, were held at St. John's church on Center street at 9 o'clock this morning.

Shortly before the two white caskets had been removed to the church from the Mahoney home on Walnut street where hundreds of friends had taken a last look at the boys.

The funeral was largely attended. Requiem high mass was celebrated at the church by Father B. P. Kenna, assisted by Rev. William Sullivan of Dawson and Father Poetz of Dunbar. Interment was made at Oak Grove Cemetery, the caskets being lowered into one grave, six by five feet, the sides of which were banked with flowers.

The flowers were a matter of comment, the many designs and varieties presenting a beautiful appearance. A number of Connellsville and Dawson people attended the funeral.

Paul was 12 years of age while his brother was 15. Both were well liked and scores of their playmates were present today.

OPENING GAME OF BASKETBALL.

The Band Will Be Out and a Parade Will Be Feature.

UNIONTOWN FIRST OPPONENT

On November 9 Captain Kummer Will Have a Fast Team For Connellsville—Practice Will Commence Next Tuesday Afternoon.

At a meeting of the Connellsville Athletic Association held last evening arrangements were made for the opening of the local basketball season. The first game will be with Uniontown in the West Side Auditorium on the evening of November 9. Captain Kummer arrived in town this week from Butler and will have a fast team on the floor that night to take the opener from Uniontown. Preceding the game there will be an automobile parade over the principal streets of town with the players of both teams headed by the Town regiment band and those interested in the success of the sport in Connellsville. Uniontown will undoubtedly have a big delegation on hand.

Captain Kummer now has six men under contract. They are with himself, Dougherty, Stark, Doyle, Egolf and Bugas. All of these men were with Greensburg last year. They are eastern players with the exception of Kummer and all of them are stars of the first magnitude in basketball. However, about four new men will be signed. The Association will carry ten men at the opening of the season. Later the list will be cut to eight men. Lines are out for two stars that will strengthen the local five.

The players who came to Connellsville finished in third place in the Central Basketball League last season. They were beaten for second place by only a game and with a little new blood this year Captain Kummer, while conservative in his claims, is confident that the team will give all others on the circuit a run for first place. The game is sure to attract wide interest in Connellsville and vicinity. As a winter sport it is as popular as baseball, as evidenced by the large attendance at Uniontown, McKeesport, Johnstown and other towns where the Central League has had teams in the past. Connellsville gets the very classiest players in the game, the members of the Central League teams being as fast as any in the United States.

Before the opening of the season practice games will be played between the professionals and the High School. Y. M. C. A. and Army teams. All games during the season will start about 8:30 o'clock and will be over in plenty of time for out of town fans to take their respective cars for home. At a meeting of the Athletic Association last evening the following officers were elected: J. Kirk Renner, President; F. R. Graham, Vice President; and H. L. Mitchell, Secretary and Treasurer. The Directors are: H. L. Mitchell, M. A. Coffey, J. L. Schick, F. R. Graham and J. Kirk Renner.

The fact that Connellsville is to have Central League basketball this winter is due to the efforts and interest of Harry L. Mitchell and M. A. Coffey. They paid $300 for the Greensburg franchise and have since organized a stock company to take over the team.

The cage will be complete and ready for games in the West Side Auditorium by Saturday and regular practice will be started by Captain Kummer on next Tuesday.

SELBIG IS JAILED.

Refused to Accept Transportation for Home So He Is Committed.

Charles Selbig, the Swede machinist, who lost his job at the Baltimore & Ohio shops here, was taken to Uniontown this morning by Constable J. W. Mitchell. He was committed last evening by Squire W. P. Clark as a nuisance.

Burgess J. L. Evans and Captain E. S. Russell of the Baltimore & Ohio police force appeared against the man. Transportation for Selbig to Pittsburg was secured but the man refused to leave town.

Sixty-one returns have been made by Justices of the Peace throughout the county in cases for trial at the December session of criminal court. A number of the defendants have pled guilty and have already been sentenced.

WISSE'S FRAUDULENT
KEYSTONE NOMINATION.

The Keystone Party is made up: (1) of Republicans and Democrats who contrive it to be a public duty to vote their opposition to the Republican and Democratic organizations, and (2) of a sprinkling of prohibitionists, who want to vote for somebody friendly to their particular lunatic who has at least the ghost of a chance of winning.

Keystone Republicans believe just as firmly in the doctrine of Protection as they ever did, and Keystone Democrats are just as much infatuated with the theory of Free Trade, or Tariff for-revenue-only, as they were when they passed the Wilson bill which shut down the coke ovens of the Connelville region, closed up the mills and factories of the country, threw thousands of workmen out of employment, brought want and suffering upon every industrial community, cut down the revenues of the government and obliged President Cleveland to issue $100,000,000 of bonds to meet public obligations.

In view of these facts, it is hard to understand how the Keystone Party organization could consent to the endorsement of any Republican or any Democratic candidate for Congress, yet this has been done in nearly every district, and it is a matter worthy of note that a majority of the endorsements are given to Democratic candidates.

But if these endorsements are obtained in the same manner that Jesse Hook also got his, they are not to be wondered at. It appears that Candidate Wisse was refused endorsement by the Keystone Executive Committee, but that he procured nomination papers and at the eleventh hour had been secretly signed by the required number of friendly citizens. A careful analysis of the names on his petition reveals the interesting fact that most of them are Greene county Democrats who will vote the Democratic ticket. Candidate Wisse's Keystone nomination is, therefore, false and fraudulent, and his name should not be on the Keystone ticket. He is not the choice of Keystoneers for Congress, and he should not and doubtless will not receive the deliberative vote of any of them, save perhaps some of those who are Democrats.

Commenting on Wisse's political cleverness, the Uniontown Tribune, Prohibition organ, says:

Locally the Keystoneers have made a mess of things. They have endorsed for Congress Jesse Wisse, a political mountebank and fakir of the first water, who is basing his whole campaign on deception and demagoguery of the worst class.

Ex-Congressman Ernest P. Acheson is a member of the Keystone Executive Committee. His paper, the Washington Observer, quotes this paragraph from the Uniontown Tribune and comments upon it thus:

"The Observer happens to know that this is not correct. The Keystone party has no endorsement of Wisse, 'political mountebank and fakir of the first water.' Wisse circulated a petition to have his name placed upon the Keystone ticket and filed it at Harrisburg. It is believed that it was signed largely by Democrats and not by Keystoneers. If his name appears upon the Keystone ticket it will be on account of this bogus petition. The Keystone party doubtless has made some mistakes but it has not endorsed anybody in that district."

Candidate Wisse has indulged in a political trick which is likely to prove a political boomerang.

CONNELLSVILLE'S
VETERAN QUEST.

The surviving veterans of the fierce fratricidal struggle which drenched America's soil with American blood during five long years of murderous strife are getting fewer and fewer as the years roll by, and their numbers now find few survivors of those mighty armies which met so often and so fatally in the shock of battle during the dark days of the sixties.

The 7th Pennsylvania Cavalry fought in no less than 121 battles. The regiment lost many men in the field, but many more have answered the last roll call since that time. Scarcely a handful of that gallant 2,400 regiment. That handful has been the welcome guests of Connelville this week, and Connelville has delighted to do them honor.

We trust that when they leave Connelville tomorrow, they will carry with them kind remembrances of the town and its people, and that they will all resolve to return again.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH AND THE PUBLIC DUTY.

Typoid fever and diphtheria are increasing in Connelville rather than abating, and in view of the circumstances this is not to be wondered at.

There is some difference of opinion among physicians as to whether our water is the source of disease. It is pointed out that there is no typhoid at the creek, lake, or village supplied with unfiltered Youngs Bay river water. Nevertheless, it is only a reasonable precaution to watch the water closely. It is in constant and imminent danger of contamination.

In the meantime, however, the situation might be improved by a strict observation of the health laws by the health authorities and others. There is persistent complaint on the part of health officers that some physicians are negligent in the matter of reporting contagious and infectious

THIRD CLASS CITY GOVERNMENT.

Compiled by the Chamber of Commerce.

CONSTITUTION.
Election to be held November 8th, 1910.
If third-class city government is approved by voters at this election, nomination of candidates will take place in June, 1911.
Election of council to be held in November, 1910.
Proposition must be submitted to the people at the November, 1910 election, otherwise it cannot be done until the fall of 1911, and then, since a recent amendment to the constitution provides for biennial elections in the odd numbered years, the officers for a city could not be elected until November, 1913.

Advantages of City Government.

One of the most important advantages of third-class city government is that it provides for a more efficient and comprehensive but concise mode of government. It is apparent that laws which might be found good and useful for a community of 1,000 souls would hardly be adequate for the government of a community the size of Greater Connelville. Individual assessments from each ward are abolished under third-class city government, and a board of three assessors, one of whom shall live in any one ward, elected City Assessors, is elected by the people. They appoint assistant assessors for each ward every three years to serve for one day.

As this board of City Assessors will assess the real estate and taxable property, not only in one ward but in the entire city, it is reasonable to believe that their decisions will be quite equitable and fair from every point of view that is obtained under the present system.

It has been suggested that such a board of City Assessors would probably raise the present assessed value to a higher figure, and that this would mean a higher tax. It is true that the assessed value of Connelville property would be raised from $7,000,000 to $10,000,000, but the annual tax of 1 mill levied by the county would yield double the amount in the county as is at present realized by it. There is no need to fear that such action on the part of City Assessors would take place, inasmuch as it has always been the duty of the County Commissioners, and will continue to be, that assessed values throughout the county be made uniform, and there is no reason to believe that they could not be exercised to have this proportion maintained.

Apparently, on the other hand, that the borough millage could be easily controlled and changed to meet existing conditions and increased or lowered as the occasion demands and the assessments are increased or decreased.

Particularly good feature of third-class city government is the fact that no money can be drawn out of the City Treasury without the fact that it has been appropriated by Council for a specific purpose. No department shall create any debt or make any contract without the purpose of previous authority, and no appropriation can be made for any permanent improvement until appropriations have been made sufficient to meet the current expenses of the city. No appropriation shall be made for any purpose until the interest on the same has been provided for, and when all the appropriations have been made, the Council shall then levy a tax sufficient to meet all the appropriations. No money can be paid for any purpose until the interest on the same has been provided for, and when all the appropriations have been made, the Council shall then levy a tax sufficient to meet all the appropriations.

Such a "pay as you go" system might be believed to be a disaster if the community was smaller and had fewer improvements. Connelville, however, stands up in local prominence, having many of the advantages of cities, and for this reason all necessary future improvements could be made from the revenues each year instead of plunging the community into debt to make them. Under city government such matters as have been raised or contemplated in borough government would not only be unlawful but practically impossible.

Aside from a fraudulent and unlawful attempt to evade the requirements of the city law, it is impossible to avoid the "pay as you go" plan except by straight borrowing.

Estimated That 10,000 People Will Enjoy the Parade and Try for Prizes Worth $200.

WERE ALL BOUGHT AT COST

Rolling Mill Men Come Forward With Generous Donations and Other Plants Are Following Suite—Saturday Night Celebration Attracts Other Towns.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTSDALE, Oct. 26.—Only the weather is now needed to make the night and early morning celebration to be held in Scottdale on Saturday evening the greatest municipal gain time ever witnessed here. At the meeting of the Halloween Association last evening all committees under the most glowing reports and backed these up with substantial figures and the result of industry in working up the parade was to them. From a financial standpoint there was a realization far beyond what was looked for. The Scottdale and Old Meadow plants of the American Sheet & Tube Company, whose suggestion it would please them to have the celebration on a Saturday evening so that all the men could enjoy it, entered the most interesting financial response. Edward Anderson and Joseph T. Randle, the committees having this feature in charge, reported over $150 from the men of the two mills already. The Furnace, the Pipe Mill, and other factories also joined in. There is reported to date $250.11 in donations. The prize committee was busy yesterday and the merchants came nobly to the front by giving the prizes at cost, all prizes being purchased, and about $200 worth of the hand-some prizes ever offered in this town will be exhibited in Wiley & Mellinger's jewelry store window. There is not a cheap feature in the whole list and every one is well worth competing for.

One of the most magnificent electrical effects ever to be shown here has been arranged by the Decoration Committee, 15 streamers of multi-colored electric lights strung in the streets. These will give the town the most gorgeous appearance it has ever had. The West Penn Electric Company will furnish electricity for the lights free. Business blocks and private houses will be decorated in bunting and Japanese lanterns. Several groves of red fire will be bought and this will be burned on second story porches out of the way of the parade and to light up the scene. Lew Mellinger, C. M. McCracken, C. B. Jorj, J. T. Hamby, Harry Krouner, Harry Dillon and J. M. Fyfe will have charge of the red fire.

The boys of town who were put on their honor to do what from corn night, think night and any now night that has been added to the calendar have taken up with the idea and the leaders are circulating the idea among all the boys and girls that the great juvenile effort is to be given Scottdale Saturday evening. Masks and wigs are being bought in quantity and needless are flying making fancy costumes. There will be some surprising features in the parade without doubt, and many beautiful effects will be seen. The tone of the celebration is toward that of the great Mardi Gras festival of beauty in the south.

Marching organizations and others have signified intention of joining the parade and have made known this fact to Chief Marshal John H. Gordon.

Cards announcing the parade and where it will be formed and what particular costumes will group at various places will be posted over town sometime soon for the information of the marchers.

The entire countryside surrounding Scottdale is intensely interested and will take part in the doings. At the meeting the association passed a formal motion to invite all surrounding towns to join the merry-making.

Scores of fairs of various sorts have written Burgess H. E. Ellis and Chief of Police Frank McClellan for concessions for this night, but they are invariably answered with the reply that Scottdale does not tolerate any of this in Halloween celebration.

The entire Volunteer Fire Department will be sworn in to act as special police that night, but their main duty it is expected will be to keep the streets clear for the marchers and to prevent them from crowding in the line of parade. It is estimated that there will be at least 10,000 people on the streets that night.

Fined For Reckless Driving.
UNIONTOWN, Oct. 26.—John Link was fined $10 by Burgess H. E. Aron Dible narrowly escaped serious injury, having been drawn from in front of the machine just as it passed. As it was, he was struck on the arm and hand brought the charges against Link.

DANGER IN DELAY.

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Connellsville People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, burning, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in this locality.

William Dean, 109 Bridgeport St., Mt. Pleasant, Pa., says: "I know from personal experience that Doan's Kidney Pills are a remedy of great merit. I was troubled most of the time by backache and an extreme lameness across my loins. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage and caused much annoyance. After I had tried a number of remedies without getting relief, Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and I began taking them. The pain and lameness soon left my back and my kidneys no longer troubled me. Other members of my family have used Doan's Kidney Pills and in every instance the desired benefit has been obtained."

SEVENTH PENNA. CAVALRY REUNION

est person present was Major Henry Roger, a veteran of the Civil War and the only surviving regular army veteran of the Mexican war in Pennsylvania. Major Roger is 85 years old. With the aid of two of his comrades he appeared on the stage last evening and after being introduced by Col. J. J. Barnhart made a few short remarks in which he stated that he was good enough for another war.

Proceeding the camp fire the veterans took supper at the Christian church as the guests of the committee. Chicken and waffles were served and there is no doubt but what the veterans still have good appetites as simple justice was done to everything which was placed before them. The ladies in charge of the tables paid special attention to their guests and nothing was too good for them. Many were accompanied by their wives or some relative.

The auditorium at the library was well filled with friends and relatives of the Cavalry. Headed by the Connellsville drum corps the Cavalry veterans marched to the auditorium where special seats had been reserved for them. The decorations were very appropriate and unusually pretty. Large silk flags were artistically draped on the walls while great bunches of autumn leaves presented a fall like appearance. A row of ferns extended the entire length of the stage. Col. J. J. Barnhart, President of the Association, presided. The exercises opened with prayer offered by Rev. R. C. Wolf, after which at the request of Burgess J. L. Evans, who was to have delivered the address of welcome, Attorney F. M. Younkkin in behalf of Burgess Evans and the citizens of Connellsville welcomed the veterans and their relatives to Connellsville. He said the veterans were so highly honored today on account of their unselfishness, unworldliness being the keynote of the soldier's character.

Owing to a death in the Snyder family Rev. R. C. Wolf delivered the response. Rev. Wolf paid a glowing tribute to the veterans of the Civil War, and stated that nothing was too good for them. He said that the States were cemented into this glorious union by the lives and blood of the many of the soldiers of the veterans who assembled at the camp fire last evening and closed by stating that the republic is grateful to the Civil War veterans, but we have not done enough for them yet.

A piano solo was then well rendered by little Miss Hutchinson of Pittsburgh, a niece of P. R. Hutchinson, secretary and treasurer of the Association. Her selection was a patriotic one and was well received by the veterans. J. R. Haskley took up the next period, his subject being "Grand Fawcett" and "That Boy of Mine." The selection was a humorous one and was well delivered by the speaker.

A history of the regiment was given by Col. Greene of Cincinnati, the only living field officer of the regiment. Col. Greene gave a brief history of the regiment from the time it was formed in 1861 up until the close of the war. The first two men killed in the battle of Chickamauga were from their regiment. Col. Greene stated that he didn't want to praise the Seventh Pennsylvania Cavalry too highly, but he could say that it did its full share in fighting the battles in which it participated.

Miss Clara Dollinger of Pittsburgh, a daughter of the regiment, favored the veterans and their friends with two selections. Miss Dollinger is a whistler of note and her selections chosen were very appropriate. Col. Barnhart said if he could whistle as well as Miss Dollinger he would do nothing but whistle.

The next number was a recitation by Miss Margaret Brennan. Miss Brennan's selection was a very appropriate one and was very ably delivered. She responded to an encore. The program closed with a selection "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" by Mrs. F. O. Goodwin. This number was greatly appreciated by the veterans.

Routine Matters at the Court House.

Special to The Courier.
UNIONTOWN, Oct. 26.—A decree was handed down yesterday by Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen in the case of John H. Lemon against Andrew Lemon and others appointing Luke Frasier master to divide certain real estate, the cause of the action.

Three Rules Granted.
Three rules were granted on Tuesday to show cause why judgment should not be opened and the defendant let into a default. Cause: Rotouid took judgment against Salvatore Pompey for $30 on a note dated September 29, 1909. The defendant claimed the note was given by him while he and the plaintiff were partners in a macaroni manufacturing business when Rotouid demanded security to guard against his being discarded from the business. Two months later he decided the business was not profitable and withdrew. A suit followed.

One of the rules was issued against J. M. Dorfbaugh, for the use of James J. Cully, on petition of Anna Panek, of German township. Judgment was entered against her for $445 on a note dated in June, 1906. The defendant alleges that the note was not signed by her and that the signature on the paper was not written by her. It is claimed by the plaintiff that the note was given on a contract for repairs to her house.

A Petition.
The petition of Lucinda A. Miner was granted, in the case of J. R. Miner against Henry A. Miner. She sets forth that she is the daughter of the defendant and a sister of the plaintiff. For some time prior to October 4, 1910, she had been taking care of her father who she states had promised to pay her for the services.

On the day mentioned, after refusing to pay her, she had a summons served on him and the hearing was set for the afternoon of the 8th of that month. During the forenoon of the 8th, her father signed a judgment note for $400 payable in three years. This sum is said to have covered the value of his estate, and it is alleged by the petitioner that the action was taken for the express purpose of cheating and defrauding her of her claim.

Petitioner avers that her father was not of sufficient mind at the time of the signing to transact business, he being over 85 years of age.

Two Sentences.
Theodore Levinosky was sentenced by Judge R. E. Umbel to serve nine months in the workhouse for absconding from a $20 board bill. The defendant was also charged with larceny for stealing $15 worth of jewelry and was given a like sentence, both to run concurrently.

Calypso Mosca, of Edenboro, was given the usual sentence of a $75 fine and nine months to the workhouse for carrying concealed weapons, a razor and revolver having been found in his pocket. The same sentence was imposed on Constant Horvostick of Republic. He was also fined $10 for absconding from a board bill of a like amount.

Milk Run Information Returned.
Milk Run came to the front yesterday with an information, something out of the ordinary as conduct in the mountains seems to be of the best. Justice of the Peace Henry Miner made the return in the case against Anna Grammer, Meggie Shipley, the prosecutrix, claiming that while she was employed at the home of George Grammer as a nurse to a fever patient, Anna saw her put $22 in a cupboard. At that moment she was called from the room and when she returned a few minutes later the money was gone.

GOLD DUST Makes Hard Water as Soft as Rain Water

Every good housewife knows the value of nice, soft rain water for washing clothes and for all cleansing purposes. It isn't always convenient to secure rain water, however. Neither is it necessary. GOLD DUST will soften the hardest water, take out the mineral substances and make it so near like the water that falls from the clouds that you couldn't tell the difference.

Think what this means to you on wash-day. There's a deal of difference between the action of hard and soft water for all cleansing. Just a little GOLD DUST added to the water renders it soft and brings out the greatest cleansing value.

Try it the next time you wash clothes or dishes. GOLD DUST really cleanses so easily that it relieves housework of all its drudgery.

GOLD DUST is sold in 50 size and large packages. The large package offers greater economy.

COUNTRY'S COAL WASTE ENORMOUS.

Railroads Lose Millions Annually Through Incomplete Combustion.

HOW TO REMEDY MATTER

Secure Skilled Firemen and Keep Locomotives in High Standard of Condition, Says Official in Operating Department.

From The Weekly Courier: "You are having a good deal to say these days regarding the freight rate question, a problem which is the creation of railroad," remarked an attaché of the motive power department of one of the large of the initial lines recently, "but has it occurred to you, or has anyone ever mentioned the fact, that the coal waste of the railroads of the country runs well into the millions of tons a year, constituting one very costly source of loss? Managers tell us to educate firemen in methods of saving fuel, but I maintain that a great deal more can be accomplished in the direction of economy by giving the firemen and engine men proper tools to work with. The trouble is that competition has become so strong during the past few years that the mechanical departments have been busy experimenting with a view to curtailment of such expenses and the motive power has suffered deterioration in consequence.

"Now, if we are to profit from fuel economy, we must have a machine that can be operated economically, in good condition—everything right and all the valves square. But I regret to say that there are many valves to day that are not square. Statistics for 1908 show that approximately 50,000,000 tons of coal were used by the railroads of the country during that year, about 10,000,000 of which, through incomplete combustion, waste of gases going out through the locomotive stack, unconsumed, etc., were wasted, while an equal amount in addition was wasted in building fires, blowing off steam, etc.

"I am somewhat of a crank, too, on the subject of waste of steam, although this is a matter very difficult to regulate on a large locomotive with a great heating surface. We might, it is true, secure better skill on the part of firemen were labor on engines not so hard, but as it is we are compelled to take physical strength in place thereof—a potential reason why we are losing so much coal, which is wasted by unskilled firemen. Only the other day I ran across a fireman who was keeping an engine blowing off continuously. The engine was working nearly full capacity and running at a high rate of speed, but by succeeding in keeping the pop-valve blowing off for 10 or 15 miles. And these firemen who are most careless with the pop-valve are the very ones who never have steam when it is needed.

"It is only right to add, though, that some of the waste of fuel can be attributed to the negligence of the man on the right hand side of the cab, who often times fails to work his engine up to a shorter cut-off. And it seems to me sometimes that existing conditions have tended to discourage the engineer from doing his work economically. Consequently, these men want more money for their work, or at least for working under conditions that obtain so generally today in the mechanical departments of very many roads and I cannot say that I blame them so very much either. On the contrary, I am inclined to believe that were the railroads to improve conditions and thereby enable the men in the cab to live more comfortably, there would be fewer demands upon them for increases of pay. That is a vital point, but if you will see right down to the root of it you will find it to be the truth. No man is more anxious for higher mechanical standards than myself, but it is a matter of regret that we have not got it on many of our American railways to day."

POULTRY SHOW

To Be Held at Somerset November 22nd to 25th inclusive.

SOMERSET, Pa., Oct. 26.—(Special.)—The Somerset Poultry and Pet Stock Association has made announcement that the regular annual poultry show will be held in the town's court house building on November 22nd to 25th inclusive. This association numbers among its members nearly everyone in the county who is interested in the breeding of fancy poultry, and great interest is always evinced in the annual exhibit, and there is keen competition for the prizes, which are valuable.

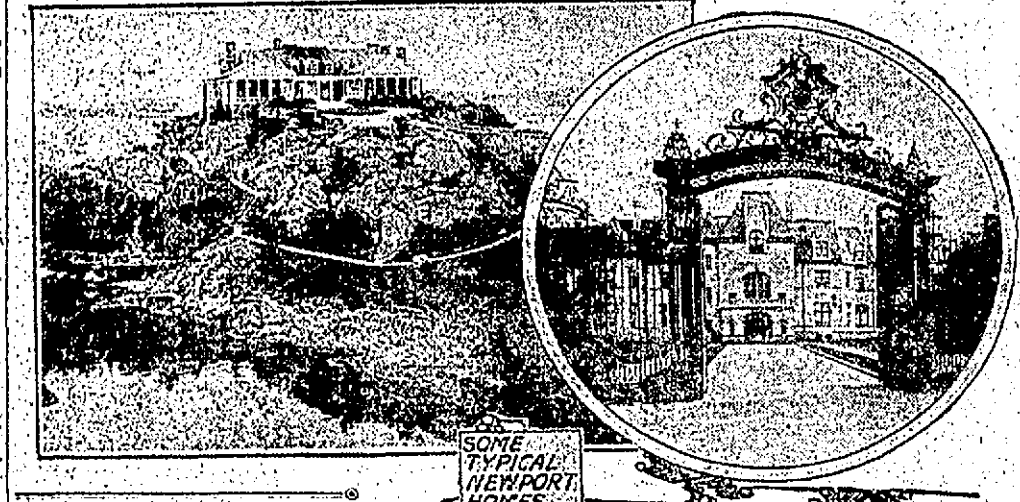

It is expected this year that there will be nearly a thousand birds entered to compete for the prizes, and poultry fanciers from all parts of the county will exhibit. Last year there were birds in the show from Pittsburg, Johnstown, Philadelphia, Cumberland, Baltimore, Hagerstown, McKeesport, Greensburg, New York, Uniontown, Connelville and a number of other cities as well as from towns in Somerset and neighboring counties.

Surrounded by Palaces, Newport Merchants Are Unable to Collect Bills From Millionaire Patrons.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 26.—Merchants of this city, recognized as the most fashionable summer resort in the United States, are ready to organize a squad to guard all outgoing railroad trains. The merchants are not looking for conflicts; rather they want money, and some want it so badly that they will be forced to join fellow-traders in seeking the bankruptcy court. All this has been brought about by the failure of the wealthy cottage-owners to pay their bills. A number of merchants have failed because the men and women of millions cannot take the trouble to settle a tradesman's account. There are some people, of course, in Newport who pay their bills, but merchants have gone on record as saying the majority of people who spend the summer and fall in Newport leave without paying their meat, grocery or wine bills. Some cottages were supplied all summer without sending a check to their tradesmen. A fish dealer of years' standing has closed shop temporarily, unable to tide over his accounts because he carries almost $10,000 on his books and his creditors crowded him. Other shops are tottering for money owed them in the cottage settlements. A merchant said that a woman abroad with her children and who rents her cottage on Bellevue avenue has owed him about $500 for several years. Each year he adds 6 per cent. interest to the bill.

ERRONEOUS REPORT.

Concerning Decision of Supreme Court in Umbel Audit Case.

The Pittsburg papers of Monday afternoon and yesterday morning published an alleged news item to the effect that the Supreme court of the state, sitting in Pittsburg, had sustained the decision of the Superior court in the United audit case, thus reversing the ruling of the Fayette county court and remanding the case back for further audit.

This item was erroneous. The Supreme court some time ago allowed Judge Umbel's appeal from the decision of the Superior court and the hearing on this appeal has been set for the 2nd of January next. But while the Superior court reversed the ruling of Judge Van Swearingen it sustained him in his right to sit in judgment on the audit and this much of the appeal from the Fayette county court was denied. Some days ago, however, H. I. Patterson, through counsel for himself and other members of the Civic League, went before the Supreme court and filed an application for an appeal from the decision of the Superior court sustaining Judge Van Swearingen's right to hold the audit before him. It was the appeal of R. I. Patterson which was denied and the decision of the Superior court on the right of Judge Van Swearingen to preside which was sustained and not the decision of the Superior court in the audit itself.

BLACK LOSES

To Wakefield For Keystone Endorsement in Thirtieth District.

James A. Wakefield is the Keystone party's official candidate for Congress in the Thirtieth district. Congressman H. B. Black, the Supreme Court has so decided, and Prothonotary George Pearson immediately certified the decision to Harrisburg, as yesterday was the last day for certifying a candidate's name. The court handed down its opinion yesterday, the argument having been heard the day before on Wakefield's appeal from the decision of the Dauphin County court, whose opinion was that Dr. R. J. Black was the lawful nominee of the Keystone party.

Seventh Veterans Swap Stories And Recount Their Experiences.

It was a happy crowd of Seventh Pennsylvania Volunteer Cavalry veterans that gathered in the writing rooms of the Hotel Wyndham yesterday afternoon, welcoming each new arrival and discussing old times. Many were the battles that were fought around the tables and in the big chairs during the afternoon.

"Do you remember—" was always the signal for attentive listeners. Occasionally there was a mild dispute over the facts in issue, but nothing serious happened. It wasn't all war talk, either. Old friends who had not met for years recounted their experiences since parting. Some had prospered; others had not. All had a good word for one another. Comrade James J. Barnhart was the center of interest. Comrade Jim always had a new surprise to spring. "We've just bought six barrels of the finest Rambo apples you ever saw for that feast out at the farm tomorrow," he announced. He added that Unsuspecting Nicaraguans Said to Be Victims of Americans.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 26.—That Nicaragua has been flooded with counterfeit money is the report which was received here by merchants doing business in that country. They say that this was done during the recent revolution by American soldiers of fortune, who offered their services to the two contending factions. It appears that they went liberally supplied with Confederate

One of the oldest veterans attending the reunion is J. K. Keenan of Mercer county. Mr. Keenan is going on 75 and doesn't look it. He appears as spry as many of the youngsters around 60.

A pathetic figure is that of Jacob Rhodes of Perry county. Mr. Rhodes is totally blind. His bearded face is marked with the lines of time. He is 87 years of age. In spite of his blindness he is one of the most cheerful of those present. He came to the reunion accompanied by a younger relative who guides his footsteps. During the afternoon, Lieutenant Colonel C. L. Greene of Cincinnati and Captain Percy H. White were taken in an automobile ride around town by Captain Ed Dunn and Harry Dunn. They greatly enjoyed the trip.

SPOILS CORONER'S INQUEST

Nail Suddenlly Comes to Life and Accepts Invitation to Dinner.

Decatur, Ill., Oct. 26.—Prepared to hold the inquest with the jury assembled, Dr. T. C. Huston, coroner of Marion county, was astonished to discover that the supposedly dead body before him still retained some life. The man was John Nola, a wealthy farmer, living near Oregon. The doctor applied restoratives and before many minutes had passed had revived the aged man sufficiently to extend him an invitation to come to his home for the noon meal. The invitation was accepted and the coroner within a couple of hours found himself the host of the man upon whom he had prepared to hold an inquest.

WHITE SLAVERS GUILTY.

A Salty Sentence For Pittsburg Man and Woman.

Pittsburg, Oct. 26.—Efforts of the police of Pittsburg and the federal department of justice resulted in the first conviction for a violation of the "White Slave" act, which became effective June 25, 1910.

After being found guilty in the United States district court of violating the new law, Frank C. Williams was sentenced to two years and six months in the penitentiary at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., and Anna Hull was given a like sentence to the Western penitentiary.

After sentence was passed United States Attorney John H. Jordan issued a statement, in which he said:

"I am certainly proud of the fact that we have been enabled to secure a conviction in this, the first case of its kind in the whole country, and it is highly gratifying that my methods have met with the approval of the court. It will show what my office can and will do to eradicate the 'white slave' evil in Pittsburg."

WHEN A MAN MARRIES

BY MARY ROBERTS RINEHART
AUTHOR OF "THE CIRCULAR STAIRCASE"
"THE MAN IN LOWER TEN, ETC."

Bella was comfortably reading by the fire. She had her feet up on a stool and a pillow behind her head. She did not even look at us for a minute; then she merely glanced up as she turned a page.

"Dear me," she said mockingly, "what a lot of trouble you all are! I had hoped it was some one with my breakfast."

Then she went on reading. As Lella said afterward, that kind of person ought to be divorced.

Aunt Solina came down just then and I left everybody trying to explain Bella's presence to her, and fled to the kitchen. The Harbison man appeared while I was sitting helplessly in front of the gas range, and showed me about it.

"I don't know that I ever saw one," he said cheerfully, "but I know the theory. Likewise, by the same token, this tea kettle, set on the flame, will boil. That is not theory, however. That is early knowledge. 'Polly, put the kettle on; we'll all take tea.' Look at that, Mrs. Wilson. I didn't flash basins with boiled water at Chicka-ma for nothing."

And then he let out the policeman and brought him into the kitchen. He was a large man, and his face was a curious mixture of amazement, alarm and dignity. No doubt we did look queer, still in parts of our evening clothes and I in the white milk lace petticoat that belonged under my gown, with a yellow and black patterned coat of Jimmy's as a sort of breakfast jacket.

"This is Officer Flannigan," Mr. Harbison said. "I explained our unfortunate position earlier in the morning, and he is prepared to accept our hospitality. Flannigan, every person in this house has got to work, as I also explained to you. You are appointed dishwasher and scullery maid."

The policeman looked dazed. Then, slowly, like dawn over a sleeping lake, a light of comprehension grew in his face.

"Sure," he said, laying his helmet on the table. "I'll be glad to be doing anything I can to help. Me and Mrs. Wilson—we used to be friends. It's many the time I've opened the carriage door for her, and she with her pleasant smile. When any one around here was having a party and wanted a special officer, it was Mrs. Wilson that always said, 'Get Flannigan, Officer Timothy Flannigan. He's your man.'"

My heart had been going lower and lower. So he knew Lella, and he knew I was not Bella, although he had not grasped the fact that I was usurping her place. And the officer Harbison man sat on the table and swung his feet.

"I wonder if you know," he said, looking around him, "how good it is to see a white woman so perfectly at home in a civilian kitchen? Again, after two years of food cooked by a filthy Indian squaw over a portable alcohol stove?"

So perfectly at home! I stood in the middle of the room and stared around at the copper things hanging up and the rows of blue and white crockery, and the dozens and hundreds of complicated-looking utensils, whose names I had never even heard, and I was dazed. I tried with some degree of authority to instruct Flannigan about putting up the solid things, and, after listening in puzzled silence for a minute, he stripped off his blue coat with a tolerant smile.

"Lave 'em to me, miz," he said. The "miz" passed unnoticed. "I mayn't give 'em a Turkish bath, but I'll get the grease off all right. I always clean up while the missus is in bed with a young 'un."

He rolled up his sleeves, found a brown checked kitchen apron behind the door, and tied it around his neck with the ease of practice. Then he cleared off the plates, ending what appeared to him as he did so, and stopping now and again for a deep-throated chuckle.

"I'm thinkin'," he said once, stopping with a dish in his hand, "what a deuce of a noise there will be when the vaccination doctor comes around this mornin'. In a week every one of us will be nursin' a sore arm or walkin' on one leg, beggin' your pardon, miz. The last time the force was vaccinated, I asked to be done behind me ear; I needed me legs and I needed me arms, but didn't need me head much!"

He threw his head back and laughed. Mr. Harbison laughed too. Oh, we were very cheerful. And that awful stove stared at me, and the kettle began to hum, and Aunt Solina sent down word that she was not well, and would like some omelet on her tray. Omelet!

"Me and Mrs. Wilson—We Used to Be Friends."

with a lie: somebody asks you to tell one in a favor to somebody else, and the first thing you know, you are having to tell a thousand, and trying to remember the once you have told so you won't contradict yourself, and the very person you have tried to help turns on you and reproaches you for being untruthful! I learned my elbow dependently on the shelf of the kitchen pantry, with the feet of a guard visible through the high window over my head, and waited for Mr. Harbison to come in and demand that I tell a raw egg, and discover that I didn't know anything about cooking, and was just as useless as all the others.

He came. He held the bowl out to me and waved a fork in triumph.

"I have solved it," he said. "Or, rather, Flannigan and I have solved it. The mixture awaits the magic touch of the cook."

CHINESE COKE IS SENT TO FRISCO.

It and Other Products of Coolie Labor May Compete on Coast.

LOOKING FOR A MARKET HERE

United States Consul Estimates With In 10 Years China and Manchuria Will Export 2,000,000 Tons of Coal a Year—Other Products.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—In place of the Chinese labor problem, which was settled by the exclusion of coolies, a new problem now is presented by the appearance of the products of such labor, made in China, seeking admission to the American markets.

Coal, coke, iron, brick, cement and other products of labor conditions existing in China, are offered in San Francisco in competition with American products. Success here means an invasion of the entire coast from Seattle to San Diego.

In an effort to establish a market, a Chinese mining company has landed in San Francisco a cargo of coal comprising anthracite, 2,000 tons; lump, 100 tons; slack, 125 tons and special coke, five tons. Ten cases of cement were sent along for testing purposes.

A representative of the company which is under foreign management and one of the strongest industrial concerns in China, has been sent to this country to work up the trade. His concern, with others, has extended its products beyond the home demand in China and this, the largest company in the business, looks to the United States to take its surplus. The capacity of its mines is 1,357,200 tons a year, or 5,500 tons a day. It has over 3,000,000 tons of coal in stock and its total resources are estimated at 20,000,000 tons. The output last year amounted to 1,201,330 tons. Five other companies in China produce 600,000 tons of anthracite coal last year. The Germans in Shantung and the Japanese in Manchuria are also developing coal deposits.

United States Consul Knabenshue, at Tientsin, estimates that within 10 years, if foreign markets are found, China and Manchuria will be exporting 2,000,000 tons of coal a year.

The big coal company mentioned is interested in the manufacture of cement, fire brick, fire clay and ornamental tiles for which it is seeking entrance to the United States. Knabenshue expressed the opinion that with the low cost of production in China and the cheap ocean freights they will be able to offer dangerous competition on the coast and in the Philippines.

Evidence that China is preparing to compete in the markets of the world is afforded by the fact that in the present year, a steel corporation on the Pacific coast of the United States, contracted with the Ta Yeh Iron mines on the Yantze to take annually for 15 years 25,000 tons of pig iron and 35,000 tons of iron ore.

From Thomas Harbison, late engineer of bridges, Peruvian truck lines, South America, to Henry Llewellyn, care of Union Nitrate company, Caracas, Chile.

Dear Old Man: I think I was fully a week trying to drive out of my mind my last glimpse of you with your sickly grin, pretending to be tickled to pieces that the only white man within 200 miles of your shack was going on a holiday.

You old bluffer! I used to hang over the rail of the steamer, on the way up, and see you standing in the way beside the car with his rifle and his Indian driver, and behind you a million miles of soul-deceiving pampa. Never mind, Jack; I sent yesterday by mail steamer the cigarettes, pipes and tobacco, canned goods and poker chips. Put in some magazines, too, and the collars. Don't know about the tea—guess it won't matter down there.

Nothing happened on the trip. One of the engines broke down three days out, and I spent all my time in the docks for 48 hours. Chief engineer raving with D. T's. Got the engine fixed in record time, and haven't got my hands clean yet. It was bulky.

With this I send the papers, which will tell you how I happen to be here, and why I have leisure to write you three days after landing. If the situation were not so ridiculous, it would be maddening. I am off for a holiday and am contemplating myself that I am root free and hot free.

Yes, my friend, heart free—how I am, shut in the house of a man I never saw until last night, and wouldn't care if I never saw again, with a lot of people who never heard of me; who are almost equally vague about South America, who play as hard at bridge as I ever worked at building zone (forgive this won't you) the poverty has gone to my head, and who belong to the very class of extravagant, luxury-loving, non-producing parasites (but that what we called them) that you and I used to revile from our lofty Andean plateau.

To come down to earth: Here we are, six women and five men, including a policeman, not a servant in the house, and no one who knows how to do anything. They are really interesting. They all know other very well, and it is "Jimmy" here, and "Dad" there—Dallas Brown, who went to India with me; you remember my speaking of him—and they are good-natured, too, except at meal times. The little hostess, Mrs. Wilson, took over the cooking, and although luncheon was better than breakfast, the food still leaves much to the imagination.

The United States Steel Corporation has begun building warehouses and sending out salesmen on the road to handle small tonnage or warehouse business. In other words the steel corporation has decided to enter into the jobbing business to a certain extent, in direct competition with the independent jobbers, who have been its customers.

Announcement of this effect came from New York, and while lacking of official sanction, has been practically admitted in steel circles. It is said no less than 20 salesmen have been sent out from the various jobbing warehouses of the Steel Corporation to gather in business that in the past has been done through jobbing houses exclusively. The trade sought is for higher finished lines, or mostly so, it includes sheets, tin plates, wire nails, barbed wire, merchant pipe, and small structural shapes and plates and light built.

Jobbers say that the Steel Corporation is trying to starve them out of their business, and on the other hand the Corporation officials who will make any explanation at all, merely state that the jobbers have abused their commission privileges and have gone out after larger tonnage orders, which was recognized as the field for direct buying from the mills and have so curtailed the mill business that they have to pay commissions on the low prices, made possible only when a direct sale is made from mill to consumer, and no commissions were figured in the deal. It is also said the competition among jobbers has forced prices down so low that the mills are feeling the effects. It is further said that the jobbers are secretly favoring the independents as against United States Steel Corporation mills.

However this may be the Carnegie Steel Company broke away first, when it took over the property of the old Star mill of the American Sheet & Tin Plate Company at Twelfth street and Allegheny river, Pittsburgh, and began building an immense warehouse to carry stacks of finished steel products from which to make wholesale small jobs. The Corporation has a large warehouse in New York for the same purpose and one in Chicago and St. Louis. It is said ultimately it will have warehouses in other leading cities from which shipments of small orders for finished steel can be filled from a jobbing list. Of course, the jobbers are getting ready to meet this long feared onslaught from the corporation.

New York dispatches say that the new salesmen sent out by the Steel Corporation will scour the west and central west for warehouse orders for all finished lines of steel, meeting in competition the salesmen from the regularly established warehouses of jobbing companies.

ENGINEERS AT ODDS OVER PLAN FOR RAISING MAINE.

WRECK OF BATTLESHIP

A SECTIONAL PLAN SUGGESTED FOR RAISING THE MAINE

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Details of the plan formulated by the army engineers for the work of raising the wreck of the battleship Maine are likely to precipitate as great a discussion as was brought about by the war over the relative merits of the sea level versus the lock type of canal for the Panama isthmus. It was made known several days ago that the old, slow and expensive method of a cofferdam was to be employed by the army people, and, while considerable criticism of the plan was made at the time, the engineers, as a rule, limited Sigsbee in "reserving judgment" until the plan, with all its details, was at hand. When these

THE STAGE AND THE PLAYERS.

"Allas Jimmy Valentine."

"Allas Jimmy Valentine," the oddly named play by Paul Armstrong which has been running two years at Wal-lack's theatre, New York, under the direction of Liebler & Company, comes to the Solson theatre for one performance tomorrow night. "Allas Jimmy Valentine" was written by Mr. Armstrong from a story by the late O. Henry, called "A Retrieved Reformation." Jimmy is a romantic crook. He is an artist in his line, and that line is safe-robbing. He is imaginative and reckless and is so de-cidedly different from the herd that had he gone wrong in some other way, he would have been an arctic explorer or something equally original.

the rapid-fire style of Paul Armstrong. "Billy the Kid." Foremost among the best attractions promised the patrons of the Solson theatre this season, is the brilliant tale of western life, "Billy the Kid." Not in a decade has a drama of such pathos, mirth and adventure stirred the hearts of fascinated audiences. A well told tale, appealing to the young school girls' romantic ideals, it unfolds a phase of life so replete with intense soul interest that the gray haired man feels his innermost emotions aroused to the fullest extent. Tense scenes are relieved with bright comedy lines and for a few hours' entertainment nothing can surpass this play. It will live forever.

A Scene From "Billy the Kid."

You come upon him first in the Ward-en's office in Sing Sing. He has been sent to prison for ten years by the deathbed revenge of a crook whom he drew from the window of a rapidly moving train, the object being, the protection of a lone and fair parlor car passenger.

This passenger is the daughter of a banker and the niece of the Lieutenant Governor of New York. Years after the incident, she meets her protector in the prison and learns that he loves her. Ever since his defense of her she has loved him. Her uncle gives Jimmy a pardon and her father gives him a place in the bank. Everything seems arranged for the reformation of the artistic safe-ro-bber, but while he waits for a final word from the girl, two of his old pals come to scare him back to them by pointing out that the police never will let him alone. How this prophecy comes true and how Jimmy puts up the great big moral fight of his ad-venturous life, spurred on by the love of a good girl, is graphically told in

Frank Dickson who plays the hand-some young hero needs no introduction. His work is too well known and appreciated. His support is worthy of the star and play, and no higher praise could be offered them. This is the fourth season of "Billy the Kid" and great elaboration of scenic effects is promised. The entire New York production, intact, will be presented here on Friday night, Oct. 28.

"Madame X"

In addition to being thrilling and tear compelling beyond any other play in the memory of this generation, "Madame X" is likewise regarded by the metropolitan critics as one of the most entertaining dramas of recent years. In writing this brilliant masterpiece Monsieur Alexandre Bisson, the famous Parisian dramatist, has evinced the characteristic skill of the French playwrights. Henry W. Savage will offer this superb drama of mother-love, staged exactly as in New York, and played by a company of the highest merit, at the Solson theatre Saturday afternoon and evening.

WRIGHT PUPIL SETS NEW MARK.

Aviator Ralph Johnstone At
tains Height of 7,300 Feet.

FLIES RIGHT INTO SKOW STORM

Youngster Returns Safely to Ground
After Thrilling Experience—Beats
Drexel's Altitude Record by Two Hundred Feet.

New York, Oct. 26.—Ralph Johnstone at the fourth day of the international aviation tournament at Belmont park climbed into the air until a supersonic at an altitude of 7,300 feet compelled him to coast back to earth, but his climb was entirely satisfactory to young Mr. Johnstone in that it established a new American altitude record.

On the previous day J. Armstrong Drexel had taken the American altitude record of 6,135 feet way from the Wright machine, but it is back again.

Johnstone's Second Attempt.
The record was made on Johnstone's second attempt. On the first the young aviator was for a long time lost sight of. When he came down he discovered he had forgotten to attach a barograph to his machine, and, of course, the height attained could not be ascertained.

When Wilbur Wright learned of the lack of a barograph and the consequent futility of the flight, he told Johnstone he must go right out again and break the American record.

Outclimbs Latham.
The wind was lessening a bit as he started up in long spirals and continued to go up. As he climbed the big Antoinette that Latham flew for France started aloft also. But Johnstone had a start on the climbers below him and in a very little while he had all the sky to himself.

The spatter of rain that bit up turned faces as the crowd looked up and toward the Johnstone speck out to Johnston before it drove the crowd to cover. At first it was just a fine drizzle up where he sailed, hardly thick enough to conceal him entirely from the watchers below. But as he got up toward his record mark the rain changed to wet snow on his goggles.

Blinded by Snowstorm.
Then the snow began to freeze in a crust upon the goggles and he had to watch for a steady moment to pull them off. By this time the wind and cold and sleety snow almost a mile and a half in the air had left him blinded and numb and the storm wasn't helping his engines.

The engines still were working, but Johnstone's muscles were approaching the quivering hour. If the muscles give out the aeroplane falls, and it is no help to fall into a snowbank if the snowbank is in the neighborhood of a mile and a half in the air.

Speak in the Sky.
As he started finally toward the earth he slid into weather that blinded him entirely from view. Over and again the speck sliding earthward would swing vaguely into view, working all the time into the lower sky of the northeast.

At a height of about 4,000 feet, and to the east of the aviation field, Johnstone dove out of a mist bank with his engine throttled down and finished his flight with a long volplane dive to a spot a few feet from his starting point.

De Laseps Lost Bearings.
Count De Laseps earlier in the day had tried for altitude in his Bleriot, but at a height of 5,391 feet he began to lose his bearings in the fog and rain, glit. Below him Count De Laseps said later he could see three race tracks and when he at last was sure which was the Belmont track he dropped while the dropping was good.

The day was free from accidents of any kind, but for a long time after Drexel and Johnstone, in their Bleriot, and McCurdy in a Curtiss started out on the daily cross-country flight to round the anchored balloon near the Meadow Brook Hunt club house, ten miles away, there were worried folks as dark came on with no news from them.

Aviators Away Long Time.
Molissant turned up, however. He had been gone an hour and had flown between forty-five and fifty miles continuously, because he was unable to locate the balloon, which marks the outbound limit of the flight. He had seen nothing of Drexel and McCurdy, he said.

As the last of the crowd was leaving McCurdy called up the judge's stand from down Rockville Center way and Drexel further relieved anxiety a few minutes later by calling up from the same general direction also.

NOW, PROFESSOR PARKER!

Here's a Chance to Pick Up a Half Million Dollars.

New York, Oct. 26.—The charge made by Professor Herschel A. Parker upon his return recently from an unsuccessful attempt to reach the top of Mount McKinley that the Lloyd party of Fairbanks, Alaska, did not, as claimed, get to the summit of that mountain, and that the story of that exploit was as genuine a fabrication as that of Dr. Cook, was repudiated by James H. Scott, a merchant of Fairbanks, on his arrival at the Imperial from the frozen north.

Mr. Scott offered to guarantee that the merchants of Fairbanks would put up a stake of half a million dollars against a similar sum to be raised by Professor Parker or anybody else that the party had reached the top of the lofty peak, and would demonstrate it by having Tom Lloyd take the professor up with him.

OLDFIELD WINS

Race From Jack Johnson, Making Negro Look Cheap.

Sheepshead Bay, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Barney Oldfield and Jack Johnson met here in a five-mile automobile race. Oldfield's pace was cutlery too hot for the colored man, who was out-distanced in two heats, which decided the race for Oldfield.

Considered as an automobile race the affair proved to be a burlesque that was not even amusing. Before the race there was some talk that Oldfield had agreed to let Johnson beat him, but this report was a mistaken one.

Oldfield got away in the lead each time, and the negro pugilist, who has been arrested for exceeding the speed limit of many a city in this country, had far less chance of victory than Jeffries did when he faced Johnson at Reno last July.

Between the first and second heats Oldfield gave a little exhibition dash in his Benz racer against the Brighton Beach record of 49.45 seconds for the mile. His time for the mile was announced as 44.35 seconds.

GUIDE REPORTS SEEING BALLOON.

Search for Lost Aeronauts
May Start at Chapleau,
Ontario.

STORY THOUGHT IMPORTANT

Eighth Day Passed Without Any Word
From Hawley or Post—Aeronauts
Before Leaving St. Louis Said They Expected to Land in Canada.

New York, Oct. 26.—The eighth day has passed without news of the landing of the balloon America II, which left St. Louis with Alan R. Hawley and Augustus Post aboard trying to win the international race.

The news from Canada, which even less reassuring than on the day before, for it developed that the balloon thought to have been over Huron lake, twenty miles south of Huron, Ont., was really seen on Wednesday and was probably either the Dusseldorf or the Helvetic.

To Decide on Further Steps.
A meeting of the board of governors of the Aero Club of America, at which William Hawley, brother of Alan R. Hawley, was present, was held to decide on further steps to be taken in the search for the two aeronauts.

The most hopeful news received at the club was through C. D. Justice, division superintendent of the Canadian Pacific at North Bay, Lake Nipissing, who had wired all station agents in his jurisdiction to let him know if they had sighted a balloon on Thursday.

The agent at Chapleau, in the Algoma district of Ontario, 200 miles from Sudbury, one of the Canadian Pacific division points, wired that he saw a balloon going over the place Thursday night, heading eastward. If this agent did not date the sight of the balloon a day later there is no doubt that it is the America II.

Ought to Be Investigated.
This information looked up so important in the absence of anything else that the members of the Aero club conference agreed with Mr. Stratton in Ottawa that it ought to be investigated. As a result Mr. Spindler, at Toronto, was advised to start for Chapleau at once.

Mr. Spindler and Mr. Stratton thought the information from Chapleau was good enough to warrant the former in organizing a relief expedition, as Chapleau as a base.

In Ottawa Mr. Stratton said: "As soon as the drift of the America II is ascertained I will send out a well equipped search and relief party from the nearest available point. It is certain that the America II has grounded before this time and I don't believe it fell into one of the great lakes."

Passed Over Lake Huron.
"The reports indicate that the America II has passed over Lake Huron safely and had come down somewhere to the north or northeast in the wilderness where it is impossible to get in touch with civilization."

Captain John Berry of St. Louis, who had charge of the inflating of the St. Louis, said that Hawley's last words when he started were: "We are good to stay up seventy or eighty hours and expect to break every record for distance and endurance. I know we are bound for the Canadian wilderness, but no timber will stop us. We shall sail as long as the balloon has an ounce of lifting power and take our chances of being found."

THINK PEN WAS SET AFIRE

Ohio Prison Officials Blame Convicts,
$25,000 Blaze.

Columbus, O., Oct. 26.—Incendiary work of some prisoners who hoped to create confusion and provide opportunities for wholesale escapes is suspected by the penitentiary officials to be the origin of a fire at the penitentiary that completely burned down the stamp and bolt works, the largest plant in the institution, and caused an estimated loss of at least $25,000.

The discovery that the wires leading to two of the wall lights had been cut strengthens the theory in the minds of the penitentiary officials that the burning of the shop had something to do with jail delivery plans.
